

I enjoy listening to xmradio as I drive cross country, and the ability to listen to local traffic and weather on demand in major cities is a safety factor I count on. Do not allow big media to stifle the ability of sattelite providers from giving their paying subscribers the services they want, and are paying for.